SMC GREETES GOLDEN

JUBILEE CLASS

Draft Hits Class Hard As Fewer Frosh Enroll

Despite the draft St. Michael's has over two hundred students to represent its 50th Freshman Class. The total enrollment for the college has not yet been released, but there will be a decrease of students from last year.

Volunteers Help During Frosh Week

Freshman Week was a busy one for all concerned. Becoming acquainted with new fellows and getting the "feel" of the college made for full days and plenty of "ear pounding" once lights were out.

The aptitude tests, the activities smoker, the Sports Rally and all the other events helped to partially transform the newly arrived students into Michaelmen. All the happenings the Frosh took part in from "chow" to consultations with faculty advisers made for better "blending in" to life at St. Michael's.

To top off Freshman Week were two big events, the Frosh Dance and the trip down Lake Champlain aboard the "Ti."

BIG DANCE

Saturday night newly conceived Joe College asked that sweet and lovely redhead to dance in Austin Hall. It was an evening that proved to be the week's most enjoyable.

SUNDAY SAIL

Sunday morning brought the sea-farer out of many Frosh as they sailed aboard the venerable "Ti." It was a grand voyage on the Lake between the Adirondacks and Green Mountains.

So ended another Freshman Week. The Yearlings now awaited their chance to match wit and wisdom on the morrow with returning upperclassmen.

Members of the Golden Jubilee class arrived at St. Michael's on Wednesday, September 13. The new class was greeted by members of the Student Council and volunteer helpers who gave up a week of their vacation to be on hand.

The new class would have been closer to three hundred had not the Korean conflict, with subsequent drafting, arisen. Fr. Dupont's office reports that "5% of the freshmen and 5% of the upperclassmen failed to return to school because of the draft."

ENJOYABLE WEEK

The Freshmen went through five days of orientation before settling down to the serious business of study. During these five days the Frosh became pretty well acquainted with St. Michael's and its surrounding activities.

Thursday night was devoted to welcoming the Freshmen. Short speeches were delivered by Tim Murphy, SAC President, "Doc" Jacobs, Athletic Director, and Mr. Robert A. Rivers, Instructor at the College.

Friday night the Frosh became familiar with the campus clubs and activities, and Saturday night they attended the Freshman mixer.

On Sunday Freshman Week closed with the Lake Champlain boat trip. Monday morning the new classmen reported for their first day of classes at St. Michael's.

Building Ready For 200 In Fall

Students who came back to school expecting to move into the new Ryan Hall were met with a cold and unfinished building. The building will not be completed until the latter part of October.

The students assigned to the Dorm will move in then. These students are now living on campus and in the Officers' quarters at Ft. Ethan Allen.

The first floor is expected to be completed in about ten days. Those assigned to that floor then can move in. The second floor is expected to be finished in about two weeks, the third floor will be ready for occupation in about three weeks and the fourth floor will probably be finished in a month. As the floors are completed, the occupants will move in from their temporary homes.

The freshmen and seniors assigned to Ryan Hall are now living On Campus, the Sophomores and Juniors are at the Fort.

Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, S.S.E., president of St. Michael's College, will sing a Solemn High Requiem Mass Monday at 7 in the college chapel.

The Mass will be offered for Pvt. Thomas Swift, brother of John G. Swift, St. Michael's College junior from Rochester, N. Y. Pvt. Swift was killed Aug. 12 in Korea.

St. Michael's Athletic Field, as viewed from the third story of the new dormitory. One of the goalposts on the football field can be seen near the parked car on the left. The baseball diamond is in the background. The fence, which will encircle the entire field, has yet to be erected.

EDITORIALS

Once again we begin another college year and once again we say "welcome" to the Freshmen and "welcome back" to the upperclassmen.

This year, however, instead of devoting an entire editorial to greetings we would like to get a little more serious and discuss the significance of our being here at St. Michael's.

Even now many Freshmen and some upperclassmen may be wondering just what they are doing at St. Michael's. About the best answer to give to any who may be in this frame of mind is, you have come here to be educated. Simple?

Well not so simple that it can be laughed aside.

We are fortunate in having the chance to be educated, more fortunate that we have the chance to receive a Catholic education. But this chance rests upon our minds a very serious duty. It is our duty to study and profit by our St. Michael's education, so that we may share it and influence others by it.

We here are not only receiving sound learning in our chosen fields, but what is even more important, we are also receiving a Moral Education.

If the world today were morally educated, and knew exactly the difference between right and wrong, perhaps we would have that peace every one so desperately desires.

Does a Russian think that Communism is wrong? Definitely not. He has been taught in his schools that it is right, therefore he does everything to spread this belief.

Michaelmen, we know that we are receiving the right education. It is founded on the principles of the greatest Teacher the world has ever known, Christ Himself. Do we work as hard for Christ the Saviour as the Communists do for Stalin the persecutor?

We should settle down now at the beginning of this college year to serious thought. These are serious times and we should be in a serious frame of mind to deal with them.

Enjoy the social activities of St. Michael's, but always remember we are here primarily to study and profit by our studies, so that some day we may be a credit to God, St. Michael's, and ourselves.

Our New Year

There'll be some changes made. As a matter of fact there already have been some. When we first arrived at St. Mike's some, how many, years ago, we had a feeling the campus needed a lot of improvement. Never mind the campus, what about my room? And over the years we didn't seem to see much being done.

Now all of a sudden we have realized that the college authorities have been "making haste slowly." What do you know, we now have (almost) two beautiful new brick buildings. A little paint (though we fear still not enough) has gone on the old buildings. Most of the mud and some of the water has disappeared, along with, blessing of all blessings, those mounds of fresh dirt seen everywhere last year. And that new athletic field looks like an athletic field at last.

But the one thing that really brought all this home to us, was to walk through Old Hall and see all that beautiful new furniture going in. We felt as though we were "out of the woods" at last. Well, all we can say is:

"Thanks, Father!"

HILL WIND

Question: What was your first impression of St. Michael's College?

Richard Knott Milford, Mass.

My first impression came when I entered my room, which is located on the fourth floor of Old Hall. That was not too favorable, but after a few days everything is working out swell. The students here are in general very friendly, and the curriculum has everything needed for my course.

Artie Charlebois

Glens Falls, N. Y.

I was a little disappointed at first but after a week here I find that the students and teachers are ideal and can give me a good education. The extracurriculum also has many good ideas for spending one's time. In general I find St. Michael's okay.

Jim Plunkette

Worcester, Mass.

Since I had already heard of St. Michael's my first impression was already in my mind. Now that I have been here a week my only complaint is that the beds are a little too small. All in all I find St. Michael's very suitable for a college its size.

Jack Kennedy Prattsburg, N.Y.

In general my impression of St. Michael's is, that for a college of its size it can not be beat. The wide curriculum in class as well as student activities, suits my course here at St. Michael's perfectly.

Richard Napolitano

Baldwin, L. I.

When I first entered St. Michael's my first impression was one of complete serenity, especially the country surrounding it. Everything here is swell, the priests, teachers, guys and girls are all very friendly towards me.

Campus Static

This, the first issue of your school paper for the 1950-51 year could well be called the Freshman's issue. For in it, (if you get past the cartoon) you will find a large and friendly WELCOME FROSH from everyone. This greeting comes from everyone from the President of the college to the janitor on your floor and the Coke man out in left field.

Symphony Orchestra

St. Michael's College students will get a chance this week to join Burlington Community Concerts and hear four concerts for only $3.

The Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra and the crack Negro singing ensemble, the de Paur Infantry Chorus, have already been engaged for the series. The other two attractions will be determined by the number of memberships sold.

The campaign closes Saturday, September 30, and no series tickets are sold after that date.

FOR STUDENTS

Only students are entitled to the $3 membership. Adults may join for $6, tax included.

A sound film showing some of the Community Concert attractions will be shown in Austin Hall at 4:30 on Tuesday, September 26. There will be no charge.

TICKETS NOW

Students desiring new or renewal memberships may contact either Dr. Jeremiah K. Durick or Mr. John Donoghue in the public relations office.

HOMECOMING WEEKEND SCHEDULE

Fri. - 2:30 p.m. - Dedication of new Dormitory.
Fri. Night - Homecoming
Sat. 2:00 p.m. - Dedication of new Football Field.
U.V.M. Game.
Sat. Night - Alumni Award Dinner.
Sun. 10:00 a.m. - Memorial Mass

It is true. You are welcome. But if you will step into my abode and sit down on that bottle of poison ink, I'll give you some straight dope. First and foremost, who was the "Frosh" who, in all seriousness, asked for a menu in the mess hall? Now, up here on the Hilltop, that just isn't done. For things like that you can get five days in the electric chair or worse.

During your first year here, you freshmen will learn many things. (It sez so in the catalogue.) You will be able to separate iambic pentameter from free verse. You will know a protozoa from a test tube. If you are lucky, you will hear of "Good Queen Bess" and how the house of Ushers fell (or was it Hapsburg). Your vocab. will increase to an ever enlarging plane. You will shy from double negatives and use "ain't" only in secluded places. You will feel the education build you up, make you feel good again without the use of pepto-bismo. ... Ah yes, all this and Winooski too.

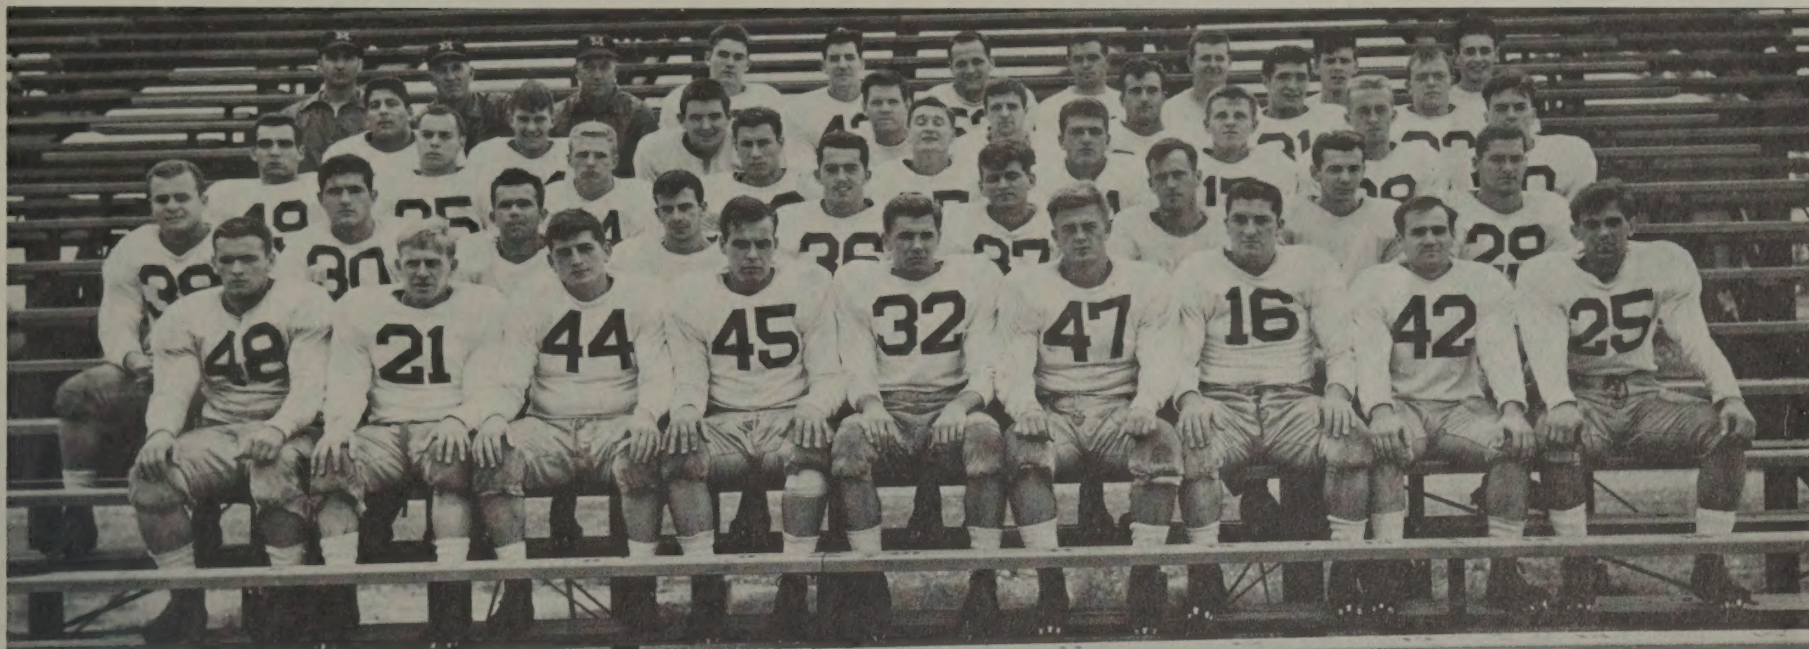

When you learn that "Winooski" is Indian for onion, your education will be complete and you will be able to migrate back to the United States with a feeling of a worthless year behind you.

As you have already guessed, this column is devoted to those on the MICHAELMAN staff who have nothing to say and want a lot of white space to say it in.

But getting back to advice for the "Frosh." The only thing to be said is, "play it cool, buster, and don't take life too seriously, you'll never get out of it alive...." But take St. Mike's very seriously, for who knows, you may get out of this alive.

Squad Which Meets UVM Next Week

Fourth row: Joannides, Casperson, Donoghue, Jarvis, LaBoissiere, Connors, Cappuccio, Carrier.
Third row: Woodward, Plourde, Meisel, Forte, Heggarty, Morris, Yurasits, Carr, Begen.
Second row: Provenzano, Capodilupo, Finn, Driscoll, Houlihan, Kateley, Barry, Young, Simas.

Thirty-nine football gridders hopped aboard the trains from their home towns on the eve of August 31, and reported to Coach George "Doc" Jacobs on the morn of September 1, with spirit and zeal that surpassed previous initial meetings.

Coach Jacobs, who is in his third season as mentor of the Knights, warmly greeted the candidates, and cautiously warned his aspirants that all eleven positions were waiting to be occupied.

A completely different attitude seemed to prevail over the campus as the boys settled down in earnest for their all important tilt with the U.V.M. Catamounts.

Coach Jacobs, ably assisted by Coaches Bill Piscione and Barry Branon, quietly remembers that the Knights' best ball game of last season was left on the practice field one bleak and rainy afternoon in a scrimmage with the Dartmouth Indians.

This in all probability is one of the reasons why Coach Jacobs decided to give up the lonely Camp Holy Cross site in favor of the "Old Hilltop" where facilities are more adequate.

Looking over past S.M. - U.V.M. contests the records show that the two teams have squared off on six previous occasions. These records also indicate that the Knights are on the wrong end of a 2-4 series.

The last two encounters between these two teams have been thrillers all the way. Anything can happen when these arch rivals clash on the gridiron, and once the whistle blows all odds seem to be tossed aside. I recall a couple of years back when the Catamounts were installed a three touchdown pre-game favorite over the Purple and Gold. However, on that warm and sultry September afternoon, a scrappy and determined Knights' eleven upset the local sportswriters' predictions and walked off Centennial Field at dusk with a hard earned 13-7 victory.

Last year's affray showed the Knights holding a 6-0 margin with the clock showing but four minutes of play remaining. Starting on their own forty the Catamounts mixed power plays with an aerial attack to climax the sixty yard jaunt. With time running out, Ursprung put his educated toe into action and split the uprights for a 7-6 win.

Both teams have been hard hit by graduation last Spring with the Cats seemingly the most affected.

Missing from the Purple and Gold lineup will be Captain Tom Hannigan, Jack "Rabbit" Daley, "Big" Jim Conboy, Marty Conley and Bob Knight.

The loss of two stalwart ends in the personages of Captain Hannigan and Bob Knight is enough to make any coach's hair turn grey overnight.

However, Coach Jacobs dug deep into the freshman reserves and has come up with a couple of six footers in Dick Stokes and John Meisel.

Familiar names missing from the U.V.M. roster will include Captain Stan Ursprung, St. Gelais, Comoli, Ballard, Dempsey, Collier, and Cook.

At this writing Coach Jacobs could not even name a tentative starting lineup. Competition for berths has been so keen that "Doc" in all probability will follow his usual procedure by not naming the starting lineup until close to game time.

Doc Books Frosh For Three In Fall

By Dan Tarpey

The Purple Squires will open up their three game schedule on Oct. 21, when they will journey to Canton, N. Y., where the St. Lawrence frosh will supply the opposition.

The following week the frosh will cross the blue Winooski to Centennial Field where they will be guests of the U.V.M. Kittens.

The Squires wind up their three game schedule away from the scenic shores of Lake Champlain on Nov. 11th when they will travel some 30 miles south of Burlington for their annual affair with the Middlebury Plebes.

Under the tutorship of Branon, the Purple Squires racked up another Vermont Freshman grid title last season by downing Norwich, Vermont and Middlebury.

Missing from this year's schedule are Clarkson Tech and Norwich. What I am led to believe is, that Norwich respects our freshman teams, and simply do not want any part of them on the gridiron.

However, of the three state teams that the Purple Squires encountered last season, Norwich was or looked to be in this particular game the best of the foes.

Knights & Cats Meet On New Hilltop Field In Big Tilt Saturday

The Purple Knights with three rough scrimmages against St. Lawrence, Champlain and Dartmouth tucked away under their belts will spend their final week of preparation before the U.V.M. clash in light drills and blackboard work.

Intramurals

The ever-popular Rev. Garrett (Garry) Larkin, Director of Inter-mural Sports, does not believe past interest in tough football warrants continuation of that sport at the present time. Instead a softball league will be organized, with play to continue as long as the weather permits. But that's not all! An even more welcome innovation will be the use of the gym for inter-mural basketball until the start of the varsity season.

REMEMBER THE 28TH !

Fr. Larkin is hopeful that he will be able to start the schedule on Sunday, October 1. But, and this is a big but, it all depends on the co-operation of the team managers. Unless the squad rosters for all 18 teams are turned in to Fr. Larkin, at his office in Old Hall, 3rd Floor, by Thursday, Sept. 28, there will be a

The added experience and depth in every position should play a vital role in the chances of the Purple and Gold emerging with a clean slate at the season's end.

The end positions seem to be well fortified by Ted Morris, Bob Kateley, Harry Young, Dick Stokes, John Meisel and Bill Zimolka.

Morris, Young, and Kateley are all veterans of last year's campaign. Stokes, a 190 pounder from the Bronx was on the receiving end of three T.D. passes in the frosh game against Middlebury last season. Zimolka, a senior from Amsterdam, N.Y., is a newcomer to the football scenery at the Hilltop.

Plugging the tackle slot will be Joe "Tiger" Hermans, Justin Capodilupo, Frank Cotter, Guido Forte, Dick Johnson, Paul Balcom and Bill "Jitter" Donahue. "Tiger" Hermans, Cotter, Capodilupo, and Guido Forte are all returning lettermen while Johnson, Balcom, and Donahue toiled under the tutelage of Coach Barry Branon. Johnson and Balcom were game captains on different occasions for last year's yearlings.

The guard positions seem to be the strongest, and certainly the deepest in the Knights forward wall. Lettermen Jim Whitlock, George Maloney, and John Provenzano are finding the going rough in scrimmages when they are pitted against John "Cap" Cappuccio, Ed Carrier, Jerry Finn, Bill Driscoll, Ernie Woollworth and Andy Scheer.

Whitlock, of course is the "old pro" of the guards, and along with Provenzano, was selected as an All-Stater.

At the pivot position are three candidates who need no introduction at the Hilltop. Klaess, Joannides, and Houlihan are simply solid rocks of granite who will need to be tilted by a bulldozer before bowing to the opposition.

Leading the parade of backs will be Ed "the brain" Krupinsky.

It Can Happen Here

Vt. Colleges Agree Not to Paint (Others)

The Purple Knights of St. Michael's and the Catamounts of UVM tangle next Saturday in the inaugural tilt for St. Michael's new athletic plant.

There'll be bands, co-eds, returning grads. There'll be rallies, cheering, enthusiasm in the stands and feats of derring-do on the gridiron.

Even so it's going to be a colorless weekend - at least in one respect.

The color which, it is hoped, will be lacking, is the color supplied by the ubiquitous red paint with which both campuses were decorated on the eve of last year's tilt.

INJURY DONE

During the past few years, periodic paint flinging junkets have done damage to the buildings - and the reputations of both schools.

Last year paint was spread on both the Waterman Building at UVM and the Holcomb Observatory here at St. Michael's. At the time, a group of St. Michael's seniors went over to UVM and cleaned up the mess. However, the paint used was of a particularly adhesive quality with the result that faint traces still linger on the pillars of the huge Vermont administration building.

This despite the fact that considerable money was spent and also despite the labors of some 20 Michaelmen who lost a night's sleep trying to eradicate the stuff.

NO REPEAT PERFORMANCE

In an attempt to prevent a repeat of the fiasco, two Michaelmen visited Vermont this week and conferred with the Student Government there. The students were Council President Tim Murphy and Secretary Bob Flanagan. The council members promised that St. Michael's students would confine their pregame activities to non-destructive stunts.

Commenting on the visit Murphy said: "We stuck our necks out. Frankly I think our students will support us. If they don't we'll look awfully silly."

"I'm not against stunts as such," Murphy added. "I just can't see any point in pulling something that's going to put someone to a lot of expense. The best and most original stunts don't cost anything."

pinsky. Ed, a native of Springfield, Vt., is the only senior letterman among the thirteen backfield candidates. Other backfield lettermen include "Pistol" Pete Plourde, Frank Simas, Jack Heggarty, Art "the toe" Coggio and John Yurasits.

Simas, leading ground gainer, and an All-Stater as a sophomore should be in line for his best college season on the gridiron.

Plourde, plagued with injuries last season can go all the way every time he gets the pigskin, and is expected to do much of the ball toting for the Knights this season.

Heggarty, a broken field runner, should see plenty of action, particularly when the opposing team will be in punt formation. Several times last year Jack returned punts thirty and forty yards at a clip.

Veterans Art Coggio, the Everett signal barker and John Yurasits, a pile driving full-back from N.Y., have been outstanding in practice sessions, and it certainly will be hard to keep them out of the starting lineup.

Up from last year's once defeated frosh team are Don La Boissiere, Frank Connors, Mike Carr and Ken Casperson.

Newcomers are Al "Funzie" Cioffi, a transfer student from Fordham, working at one of the half posts, and Jim Barry, president of this year's senior class, also a candidate for a backfield position when the whistle will blow at the Hilltop next Saturday.

Don't Enlist! Read This!

Information has come from the President, Father Lyons office, which should stay any fearful draft subject who is worrying about what he will be wearing within a couple of months.

With the possibility in mind of a student being drafted it is better if he stays in school instead of going out and enlisting. By staying in college, he has a better chance of obtaining a commission or special duty in the armed forces with more education behind him. There is, of course, a possibility that St. Michael's will get an ROTC Unit on campus and thereby set many of the students' minds at ease.

In an event that any student gets a draft notice, he should go immediately to the Registrar's office where he will get all the information necessary for deferment. A temporary policy on the subject of college student deferment has been issued by the Selective Service stating that for men in college, the "upper-half" basis of deferment shall apply to those who have completed the freshman year. The "upper-two-thirds" basis of deferment shall apply to those who have completed the sophomore year. An "upper-three-fourths" basis shall apply to those who have completed the junior year of college. These items are not yet the policy but they may become a standard policy in a short time.

The nation now realizes the importance of college men in the future of the United States, both military and civilian, and the powers that be cannot risk a famine in college students. It is only common sense that the students in college (the serious ones) will be allowed to continue their education, for the nation itself will benefit.

All students, if called under the draft while actually pursuing courses at the college may have their calls postponed until the end of the school year. As yet, this is a postponement, not a deferment and has no relation to the deferment policy outlined above.

The postponement policy applies to all students actually in college, and merely permits the student to finish his school year before being called.

Reservists also can get a postponement to finish their college year. But it must be remembered that the reservist must actually have received notice of his recall to active duty before making application for delay reactivation. Once orders, are received reservists who fall within the deferment categories established by the Department of Defense should request delay immediately. This refers to civilian components who are enrolled in institutions of higher learning.

For the Navy reservists, requests must be submitted either by the reservist or by the institution within 48 hours after receipt of orders, and should be addressed to the Naval District commandant if the original orders were issued by or through the District commandant. If there is no reply, the reservist must comply with the orders. In any event, see the Registrar for full information.

Air Force Reserve personnel, officers or airmen, who are eligible for recall delay should forward delay requests to the headquarters of the numbered Air Force issuing the orders. For delays in excess of 30 days, either the reservist or the institution may forward a written request along with documentary evidence supporting the request to the numbered Air Force issuing the orders.

Members of the National Guard units which are ordered into Federal service will forward requests for deferment in call to the commanding officer for the organization called. The request will be forwarded to the Adjutant General of the State concerned. Appeals may be taken through the same channels as outlined above.

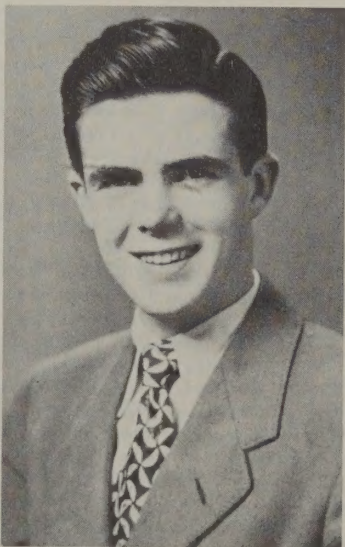

Army reservists who apply for delay will forward requests through the Unit Instructor for the organization who will forward them to the commander of the Army district issuing the orders. Reservists not assigned to organized units will be ordered individually. Requests for delay should be addressed to the Army District which issued the orders.

Initial deferment from active duty may not exceed six months, but extension may be applied for when the deferment expires. This applies to all branches of the service.

If there is any question regarding your status in the draft, look into the Registrar's office where you may get all the information available.

Think of your education and the benefits derived from it before you think of leaving school because of fear of being stopped by the draft. You as a college student are protected by the government for they know the value of you and your education.

Healy New Sports Writer at Cross

Jerry Healy, Class of '50, sports publicity writer at St. Michael's College during his Senior year, has accepted a full-time position as Director of Sports Publicity at Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass.

Jerry will be working under Father Leo Glavin, new moderator of athletics and Gene Flynn, athletic director at the Cross. The Crusaders face a ten game grid schedule and will play 25 hoop tilts this year.

While at St. Michael's, Healy was editor of the MICHAELMAN, along with playing varsity football and hockey.

On September 16, Jerry deserted the ranks of bachelorhood when he married Miss Evelyn M. Sauer, sister of a former Michaelman. The wedding took place in the Holy Name Church, Springfield, Mass.

From Fr. Lyons

The student body will be welcomed back officially by the college president, the Very Reverend Daniel P. Lyons, tomorrow morning at a Solemn High Mass at 10:00 in Austin Hall.

The Deacon for the Mass will be Fr. Gerald Duford and Sub-Deacon Fr. Maurice Boucher. Fr. Raymond Poirier will be Master of Ceremonies. This Mass is obligatory for every student.

Each class will receive a welcome from the Dean of Men next week in Austin Hall. Fr. D'Agostino will address the Freshman Class Monday. On Tuesday he will address the Sophomores, Wednesday the Juniors, and Thursday, the Seniors will hear from the Dean of Men. The time will be 4:30 P.M. on the respective days. This is obligatory for all students.

Club News

This is directed to all of you Michaelmen who would like to gain experience in either the technical, business, managing, or directing end of show business as well as all of you Clark Gables who are interested in earning a "key" in one of the school's most active organizations, The Knights and Knaves Dramatic Club.

This summer, movie actor Bela Lugosi, starred in the Playhouse presentation of "Dracula," and Miss Ethel Barrymore Colt was featured in "The Heiress." A total of six such productions were staged here in Austin Hall this summer.

In staging these, trained technical, business, and publicity men were supplied from our own K&K.

If any of you are interested in stage managing, directing, costume and set designing, business managing, publicity, lighting or electricity, as well as acting, the Knights and Knaves Dramatic Club needs you and extends a hearty invitation for you to join.

At the present there is also an urgent request for typists, who in addition to the others are needed in preparation for this winter's major productions. These will be the class play competitions, staged and directed by the Dramatic Club, the Passion Play, "The Dark Hour," and the Catholic University presentation of Shakespeare's "As You Like It." The Passion Play has a total cast of 70 with 35 speaking parts.

The first meeting will be held this coming week.
